Optimization welcomes its fourth class of apprentices this fall. The six new apprentices will spend four years working full-time alongside Optimization skilled tradesmen on projects, as well as attending nighttime classes at MCC.

Optimization continues the apprenticeship program as a part of its commitment to keep manufacturing talent in Rochester.

“Our community is full of eager, talented individuals looking for an opportunity in manufacturing,” says program manager LeRoy Quick. “It’s extremely satisfying to be part of a program that enriches a person’s life and career and keeps skilled trades jobs in this community at the same time.”
